Council Will Outlaw "Gate Nite"

Coleman town council will take the lead to try to get Blaimore and Bellevue councils to outlaw "Gate Night"—the night before Halloween.

It was decided to do this to prevent damage being done to residents' properties on Gate Night. Gate Night started in the Crows Nest Pass several years ago and has been continued since—and gangs of young people travel from town to town in the area doing unwarranted damage to private property.

Last year tires were slashed on several vehicles in Blaimore and paint was sprayed on a car while others cars were plastered with raw eggs.

Coleman council is planning to take action to stop Gate Night and offenders caught doing damage on this night will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law.

Rudy Szymanski was appointed by council to take over the duties of town foreman. Two applications were received for the position. A meeting with Mr. Szymanski and councilmen Victor Krymyn, John Binda and Mayor Holyk was held to outline the duties of the town foreman.

Councillor Ted Kryczka reported on behalf of the Arena Association advising that the sum of $707 has been paid to the town for last year's services. He stated that the ice man would start making ice October 16th, and it was hoped to open the arena the first of November.

He stated that there was a drainage problem on the north side and the south west corner of the arena. A pump will be dug to take care of the problem on the south-west corner and the problem that is caused on the north side by snow sliding off the arena roof will be taken care of by the town crew who will remove the snow with town equipment when the snow begins to melt.

Mayor Holyk reported that Mr. Swan, the municipal inspector, had visited Coleman, and after inspecting the town books, stated that Town Secretary Cliff Noble was doing an efficient job and was providing more detailed minutes of meetings than had been done in the past.

In the matter of delegates attending the Municipal convention to be held November 1, 2 and 3 was left in abeyance until the next meeting of council October 23rd.

Steve Mraz Elected President

Steve Mraz was elected president of the East Coleman, Blaimore Road and Grafton Town Ratepayers' Association at an organizational meeting held this week.

To assist Mr. Mraz in his duties Henry Tiberghien was elected vice-president, and Mrs. Mary Meronik was appointed secretary. The committee will include Peter Meronik, Albert Kropinski, Steve Lisks and Alex Sekella.

The matter of gravel bars forming in the Crows Nest River through Coleman district was discussed and it was decided to attempt to have the provincial government's water resources branch dredge out the river channel.

Formation of the gravel bars in the river bed raises the water table in the area, causing flooding basements and also creates a hazard during spring high water periods.

A complaint of unpleasant odors arising from burning garbage at two dumps in the vicinity of East Coleman was brought to the attention of the meeting and parties responsible for the dump grounds will be contacted with a view to having some action taken to correct the nuisance.

President Steve Mraz was delegated to meet with town council in an attempt to try to get some action to relieve the dust problems in East Coleman and on the main street.

Funeral Services Held For Mrs. Trotz

Mrs. Mary (Leskosky) Trotz of Coleman passed away in the Crows Nest Pass Municipal Hospital on October 11, 1967, at the age of 44 years.

Mrs. Trotz was born in Bellevue March 29, 1923, and lived there until 1940 when she married her husband William and the couple moved to Coleman where they have resided since.

She was a former member of the O.R.P. She was predeceased by her father in Bellevue in 1929.

Surviving are her husband Bill; two sons, Billy and Bruce; two daughters, Darlene and Leslie; her mother, Mrs. Verona Benusik, all of Coleman.

Prayers were said in Fantin's Coleman Chapel at 7:15 p.m. Friday evening, October 13.

Requiem High Mass was celebrated at 10:30 a.m. Saturday, October 14th in the Holy Ghost Catholic Church, with Rev. Walter Krewski officiating. Interment followed in Coleman Catholic cemetery. Fantin's Chapel Ltd. was in charge.

Fish & Game Plan Active Season

Coleman Fish and Game Association at its October meeting instructed the secretary to write to Charles Drain, MLA, of Blaimore, with a view to having Mr. Drain use his influence to have several requests of the Association looked into by the provincial government.

The club wishes to have the water from Glacier Creek diverted into Island Lake so that a steady level of fresh water be maintained in the lake which is an excellent fishing ground.

The club also wishes Mr. Drain to attempt to have the government provide access to and a boat landing built on the south side of Island Lake. Mr. Drain will also be asked to press for action to be taken to have a wildlife officer stationed in Blaimore in the new Forest Administration building that is being built in Blaimore.

Final item on the list to Mr. Drain is to have winter fishing in the streams in the Crows Nest Pass district stopped.

A letter will also be sent from the Coleman Fish and Game Association to Gordon Haugen, district game biologist of Lethbridge, requesting he attempt to have the waters of Glacier Creek diverted into Island Lake.

Douglas Plante was appointed liaison officer to act between the Coleman Fish and Game Association and the Crows Nest Pass Rifle and Gun Club to join ranks for mutual benefit purposes.

A letter of thanks will be sent to all merchants who donated prizes for the bingo held jointly between the Coleman Elks and Lions Clubs to raise funds for the Fish and Game's new dam project which is now under construction north-west of Coleman. When completed the dam will be stocked with fish to provide more fishing for sportsmen.

Since the holiday season is now over, members of the club will divert their efforts towards completing the new dam project.

Members are advised that club crests may now be obtained from Secretary Percio Dececco. Copies of the 1967 Canadian Wildlife Service book are available gratis to members at Cell's Building Supplies in Coleman.

Mr. Drain expressed his appreciation for the support given him in the last election and then outlined several government policies.

Mr. J.H.H. Chamberlin was elected president of the Coleman Curling Club at a meeting held in the arena on Sunday. Other officers elected included secretary Mrs. Isabel Spiveak and treasurer Cecil Coover.

The meeting decided that this season skips would draw names from a hat to form teams rather than choose their own players.

Plans for mixed curling was also discussed and Nov. 4th was the date set for curling to start. Persons wishing to curl this season are asked to contact either the president or the secretary before October 25th.

John Jones Newly Appointed Presiding Minister

Jehovah's Witnesses from the Pass area returned home from the recent Watch Tower convention in Lethbridge. Among those from the Coleman congregation was John Jones, newly appointed presiding minister.

He reports that the three-day assembly concluded Sunday afternoon with the discourse "Will God Intervene in the Affairs of Men?" by Jack MacPherson, keynote speaker from the Toronto headquarters.

"God is very much interested in men's affairs," the speaker said, "and will eventually intervene for mankind's betterment. While many may feel that God is dead and not interested in earth's affairs at present, the very fact that He has made provision for man to live on the earth indicates He has an interest in their eternal welfare and blessings, as well as their happiness."

He drew attention to history, proving that God has intervened in men's affairs in times past to improve their relations with Him, but due to stubbornness and wickedness they do not receive His blessings.

Mr. MacPherson said in conclusion, "The outcome of Jehovah's intervention will mean eternal blessing for mankind in his new order here on earth where people of goodwill who now direct their attention to that Kingdom." Eight students of the ministry symbolized by water baptism the dedication of their lives to the Christian ministry.

In listening to 10 hours of lectures and demonstrations on various Bible subjects such as Christian morals, archaeology, prophecy and field ministry, Mr. Jones expressed his appreciation for the three-day gathering and the information gained.

"PENNIES FOR UNICEF"

Did you know that hundreds of thousands of Canadian youngsters -- your children and ours -- are working to provide a better future for other millions of less fortunate children around the world?

Each year at Hallowe'en, more and more Canadian children carry little UNICEF boxes on their "Pennies for UNICEF" rounds. The coins they collect are used by UNICEF--the United Nations Children's Fund--to help provide food and health and schooling for other children whose hope lies in our concern.

Last year, Canadian children collected the astonishing sum of $561,000 -- literally tons of coins -- at Hallowe'en for UNICEF.

These coins work wonders around the world -- bringing happiness and hope to the world's children.

But more important, perhaps, than the money is the lesson for all of us in UNICEF Hallowe'en campaign. Our children respond immediately to UNICEF'S appeal. For them the issues are simple. Other children need help, so our children give it.

That is why Canadian children carry the orange and black UNICEF boxes at Hallowe'en. That is why you should give generously when they ask you for "Pennies for UNICEF".

And, while you are at it, pause a moment to think about the open hearts of children. We can all learn a lesson from them.

New Series Canada Savings Bonds

CALGARY, Alta. -- A new series of Canada Savings Bonds, which combines attractive new features with last year's best-ever interest earnings, went on sale throughout Alberta on October 2.

Purchasers will be able to double their money over the 13-year term of the new Series if they choose the compound interest option similar to that introduced last fall with the Centennial Series of Canada's Savings Bonds. The interest yield is an average of 5.48 per cent a year if the bonds are held to maturity.

This year's Series will have these three new features:

- 1--A starting interest rate of 5% per cent a year, the highest initial return ever on a Canada Savings Bond.
- 2--A broadened eligibility which for the first time will allow corporations, businesses, endowments, churches, trusts, clubs, charities, fraternal and other associations resident in Canada to purchase Canada Savings Bonds.
- 3--An increase in the maximum amount of the issue which one purchaser may hold -- $50,000 compared with last year's $10,000 limit.

The new Series retains all the traditional features of Canada Savings Bonds. Among the most important of these is the fact that holders may cash them, at any time at any bank in Canada, for their full face value plus earned interest computed monthly.

They are also a good investment to keep. Annual interest payments start at 5 per cent for each of the first six years, rise to 5% per cent for each of the next three years, and then move up to 6 per cent for the last four years. The average annual interest yield when held to maturity is 5.48 per cent, equal to that offered in the Centennial Series.

Bonds may be purchased for cash or on instalments from banks, investment dealers, stock brokers and trust and loan companies as well as on the popular Payroll Savings Plan.

Amendment To Game Hunting Regulation

The Hon. H. A. Ruste, Minister, Alberta Department of Lands and Forests, today announced that an amendment has been made to the province's Game Hunting Regulations.

Effective immediately non-resident aliens (Americans, etc.) who cannot locate a resident or guide to hunt with them in Big Game Zone One, otherwise known as the special moose hunting area, will be able to hunt without a guide or resident if he files an affidavit or declaration that he has been unable to obtain the services of a guide or resident of the province. The Director of the Fish and Wildlife Division may cause to be issued in writing a certificate authorizing such applicant to hunt unaccompanied by a licensed guide or resident.

The affidavits are available at any fish and wildlife office in the province.

The change in the game regulations was brought about by large numbers of non-resident alien hunters who have been unable to obtain the services of licensed guides or residents to go hunting with them this year.

A large number of inquiries have been handled by provincial authorities from U. S. hunters, mainly from Seattle, about the special 25 dollar Moose licence established this year.

Repairs to basement wall

Here is some advice on how to repair basement walls that have leaks in them:

If the wall weeps: Remove all paint and wash the walls thoroughly. Then let them dry for an hour.

Using the manufacturer's directions mix a cement paint and scrub it into the walls with a circular motion.

Let the paint dry for two or three hours then spray with a fine mist of water.

During the next 24 hours repeat the mist-spraying several times.

Follow this with an application of a second coat of cement paint as described above and repeat mist spraying for 48 hours.

When the wall drips in numerous places:

Call in a masonry contractor. The sure cure for this problem lies in covering the outside of the basement walls with asphalt and cement.

Should a crack develop that leaks continually ordinary mortar will not suffice in making a repair.

How to fix those leaky taps

Have you got leaky taps in your house?

If you have you don't have to tell us that it is hard on the nerves or that it hits the pocket-book by wasting water and fuel in the case of leaking hot water faucets.

You most likely know that.

But, how to fix them? Read on:

There are three common causes of leaks in ordinary compression-type faucets:

(1) Deteriorated packing around the top of the stem, or a loose packing nut;

(2) Worn or defective washers;

(3) Worn or corroded valve seats.

Taking them in order, here are some corrective measures:

If water leaks around the faucet stem where it enters the packing nut, try tightening the nut. If the drip continues, shut off the water supply at the main valve in the basement or at any valve between the faucet and the main valve.

Next loosen the packing nut by turning it counter-clockwise with an adjustable wrench. Remove the handle and slip the packing nut off the stem. This exposes packing inside the nut and packing washers around the stem. Examine and replace both if worn or defective.

Water dripping continually out of the faucet spout is evidence of fault in the washer or valve seat. To get at the source of the trouble, loosen the packing nut and turn the faucet handle as if to turn on the water. Keep turning until the spindle can be lifted out.

The washer will be found at the lower end of the spindle. If the washer is worn or defective, remove the brass screw which retains it and replace the old washer with a new one. But don't reinstall the spindle assembly without examination of the valve seat.

If worn or corroded, the seat will chew up washers in a hurry. Another sign of fault in the valve seat is failure of a new washer to stop the drip.

With faucet spindle removed, look down into the faucet with a flashlight's aid. The rim of the opening at the bottom of the faucet is the valve seat against which the faucet washer presses to shut off the flow.

If the seat is rough, it should be made smooth with a faucet seat-dressing tool that is available inexpensively from hardware dealers. Make sure, however, that the grinding tool fits your faucet.

One type of dressing tool consists of a stem with a cutter at one end, a wheel handle at the other and a spiraled cone in between.

The cone is inserted into the body of the faucet and screwed down firmly. Then the tool should be rotated back and forth until the seat is ground smooth.

Be sure to flush small bits of metal out of the faucet before replacing the regular faucet spindle assembly.

Home research assures values

Home buyers are now benefiting from improved mortgage arrangements which include higher lending values and longer periods of repayment.

One of the major reasons for more attractive terms may be found in the fact that today's home offers greater value. The house buyer is ensured of better products and construction techniques through a constant program of research carried on by the industry.

For example an active Research Committee is maintained by the National House Builders Association. These builders, working together with representatives from Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, the Division of Building Research of the N.R.C. and major building material manufacturers.

In this way the National House Builders Association strives to ensure that through improved programming, better construction methods and a careful use of housing standards, tomorrow's homes will be as attractive an investment as those on today's market.

Over two years the Research Committee carried out a program known as the Mark V project, designed to maintain high standards of house building and at the same time achieve a greater cost control.

The experiment was used to demonstrate that potential savings may be achieved in a typical project home by taking advantage of techniques that will enable lower end cost construction without sacrificing the appearance or the utility of a unit in any way.

In the initial stage of the project, a typical house design was selected to be included in a building regular construction program and built using his normal construction practices. Labor and material records were kept by the Division of Building Research for the entire construction period and these records served as a basis of comparison with another house (Mark V) to be built as a second phase of the operation.

This Mark V unit would be identical in size and layout with the project house in order that the appearance and visible quality would remain the same. Construction details would be revised to conform to minimum structural requirements in the Residential Standards and advantage would be taken of any improved techniques that offer potential cost savings.

In effect, this experiment will provide a direct and motion study on the construction of a typical house by a typical builder. The undertaking should provide an objective study on the industrialization of a single housing unit.

Certainly, builders and potential home buyers across the country will be keeping a close eye on the Mark V as it could have a marked effect on house building operations in the critical years immediately ahead.

Imagination creates attractive setting

All it takes to construct an eye-catching walk or terrace are concrete and imagination. The concrete slabs can be purchased precast, or cast in place in your yard.

By using slabs of various colors in striking combinations or by arranging them into designs or patterns, you create a distinctive and functional walk or terrace that will emphasize the beauty of your house and yard.

A new wrinkle in walks is a random recessed design on the face of the slab. To produce the unusual wavy lines, concrete is poured over wrinkled newspapers or waxed paper lined the bottom of the forms.

After the concrete sets the forms are removed, the paper is peeled away from the bottom surface and the slabs are reversed, revealing rough, recessed patterns.

A checkered design is achieved by alternating slabs of different colors between 2x4-inch dividers of durable wood, such as redwood. The checkerboard motif can extend from a walk into a terrace of alternating sections of concrete or colored gravel and grass.

The planter and fireplace walls adjoining the walk and terrace are of slump block, a rugged and decorative type of concrete masonry.

Not all crows are black - some have brightly colored feathers.

Double your money with Canada Savings Bonds

One of the great things about Canada is Canada Savings Bonds, and this year's Series is the most exciting yet. Interest starts at 5 1/4% a year - the highest starting rate ever on a Canada Savings Bond - and goes right up to 6%. Over the 13 years to maturity the true average annual yield is 5.48%.

Best of all, Canada Savings Bonds have a wonderful compound interest feature which pays you interest on your interest. Take full advantage of it and you will double your money.

As always, Canada Savings Bonds are instant cash. They may be cashed at any time for their full face value plus accrued interest. They are easy to buy for cash or on instalments. They fit all savings budgets - from $50 up.

And, for the first time ever, Canada's most popular personal investment may now be bought by businesses, churches, charities, clubs, and other organizations. Another first: the limit per holder for this Series has been increased to $50,000.

Have you ever wondered...

... how much it costs for complete hospital care in Alberta?

Five dollars the first day, and $2.50 for each day thereafter, for active treatment hospital care—that's all any Alberta resident has to pay to receive all of the services prescribed by his doctor as necessary to his recovery while in a general hospital. The remainder of the costs are paid by the Alberta Hospitalization Benefits Plan, administered by Hospital Services, Alberta Department of Health. The Plan also provides for out-patient services, paying 80 per cent of the charges, and makes auxiliary hospital care available to qualified patients for only $1.50 a day. The patient chooses his own hospital, when feasible, and if his doctor considers that he requires active treatment, there is no limit on the length of stay for which the patient is eligible. Out-of-province coverage is also provided by the Alberta Hospitalization Benefits Plan.

... what is the most important subject to Alberta's deaf school children?

Communication is the prime necessity, for, before he can begin his studies, the deaf pupil must learn to communicate with his teacher and with his fellow students. At the Alberta School for the Deaf, a branch of the Alberta Department of Education, students spend the first three years learning vocabulary, spoken and written language and sense training before they begin regular school subjects. To teach these, a combined method of instruction is used, utilizing speech, speech reading, auditory training and finger spelling. Pupils begin this preparatory course at the age of five and have the opportunity to progress to Grade X if they have the ability and the desire. For the older pupils, pre-vocational courses are offered in Home Economics, Industrial Arts and Business Education. The Alberta School for the Deaf accepts children of residents of Alberta, and Indian or Eskimo children from the North West Territories, wards of the Federal Government. The school has a capacity of 144 pupils.

... where Alberta's firemen learn their trade?

Every year, officers and potential officers from fire departments all across the province go to school... the Alberta Fire Training School in Vermilion. There, they take a five week course covering all aspects of their responsibilities, from actual fire-fighting to administrative work. Fire Officers Training Courses are available to all volunteer fire departments and to those professional departments which do not have their own training programs. Successful graduates receive a set of lecture notes and materials to enable them to pass along the acquired skills and knowledge to their own local fire fighters. There is no fee charged for the training and free room and board are provided for candidates from within Alberta. The Alberta Fire Training School is conducted by, and equipment, instructors and mention of training are all provided by the Office of the Fire Commissioner, Alberta Provincial Secretary's Department.

... about the beautiful photographs which display Alberta to non-Albertans?

From West Germany to North Carolina, from Burma to Birmingham, people the world over are learning about Alberta from publications illustrated with life-like color photographs. The projection of this attractive image of our province is the work of the Film and Photographic Branch of the Alberta Department of Industry and Development, whose staff takes and processes those pictures used in government publications. In addition to showing Alberta to non-residents, the Film and Photo Branch also helps to keep Albertans up to date on the doings of the government, as they produce photos and film clips of newsworthy events for reproduction in newspapers and on television. Government photographs produced by the Branch are not available for direct advertising use, or to private individuals or for decorative purposes.

... what tops the agricultural "best seller" list in Alberta?

Actually, it's a publication called "Chemical Weed Control". Each year, 12,000 of these technical aids to farmers are distributed by the Publications and Visual Aids Branch of the Extension Division, Alberta Department of Agriculture. Next most popular is "The Alberta Farm Guide", closely followed by "The Horticultural Guide", each with a distribution of approximately 7,000 annually. Altogether, about 32,000 publications, covering all agricultural subjects from farm management to pest control, are supplied free to Alberta farmers each month, keeping them advised on new techniques and developments in food production.

Are you a member of a club, or ladies' organization? If you are, or even if you aren't, lend me your ear—I may have something interesting for you.

October is here — harvest is winding up, and it's time to turn our thoughts to plans for winter programs. As in other years our department is offering a number of programs prepared by the specialists in Calgary and Edmonton, and available to interested groups and the general public. What does this involve? It means that the sponsoring group, if any, makes arrangements for a hall or other meeting place, chooses a program they feel is of interest, and a suitable date on which to hold it. prepares some publicity, provides, if they wish, coffee, and sits back to enjoy an informative and interesting program. I might mention also, that this, of course, is free of charge when the speakers involved are Department of Agriculture personnel.

Here are some suggestions for programs which I thought might be of interest to this area — if there are other topics you particularly desire — please feel free to contact me and make arrangements for them.

Food Catering Workshop— Food Specialist, Edmonton:

A one-day program of particular interest to groups which do catering for suppers, etc.

Clues To Clothing Care—

Clothing Specialist, Edmonton:

One-day workshop on fibres, fabrics and general care tips.

Consumer Education— Women — The Family Purchasing Agent — Home Management Specialist — Calgary:

This is a three-part program suitable for a short course program—afternoon, evening and afternoon, three afternoons, three evenings, etc., on Food, Wearables, Furnishings and Equipment, Utilities and Repairs, Shopping hazards, etc. Family Living—Home Management Specialist, Calgary:

A program in several parts. — Discussions on various aspects of family living, offered as a pilot project to the south and extremely interesting.

Home Design Clinic— Home Storage, Refinishing of Older Furniture, etc.—Home Design Specialist, Calgary:

Of course, I am also prepared to offer sewing courses for groups of 8 to 15 women interested in learning to sew, or in learning more advanced techniques, and will be happy to present shorter programs from the clothing, foods, home management and interior design fields.

I must emphasize the necessity of booking your requests immediately. The calendar is rapidly filling, many dates are now booked or tentatively booked, even as far as April, so that I can't guarantee the exact date you want. If your group is interested in sponsoring one of these programs, give me a call, drop in, or drop me a line, and I'll be happy to give you any information I can. I'll be looking forward to hearing from you!

Insect Stings

A First Aid Tip From St. John Ambulance

Insect stings are irritating, and in some cases can be quite serious. Most adults will know whether or not they are allergic to insect stings, but with small children a rapid swelling and discoloration of the bite may be the first warning of an allergy crisis.

Where allergy is known, or suspected, or for any insect stings or bites in the mouth, it is advisable to see your doctor without delay, says St. John Ambulance, the Canadian First Aid authority.

If the "sting" is visible, remove it by indenting the surrounding skin and scraping across it with a sterile instrument.

For all irritating insect stings, apply a soothing paste of baking soda, and cover the bite with a clean, dry dressing.

The new organization whose charter will be adopted in May, will be known as the Canada Safety Council.

A third national organization, dealing with industrial safety has already expressed its desire to join the new umbrella group— which will cover all aspects of safety in Canada.

The Canadian Highway Safety Council presently deals with motor vehicle safety while the League is concerned with home, child, farm, water and recreation safety.

Under the proposed structure, the merging organizations will retain some form of identity inasmuch as they will become divisions of the new Council.

According to CHSC and NSL officials, a single national organization would create a focal point for organized safety as well as a central authority from which the news media, provincial safety councils, governments and business organizations could obtain information and assistance and establish a body with more stature and influence that would be in a position to gain increased support from all segments of Canadian life.

There would be increased efficiency and economy in operation.

The resolution also empowered the executive of CHSC and NSL to apply to the Registrar General for a Canada Safety Council charter and to approve the by-laws of the newly-formed Council.

At their respective annual meetings CHSC and NSL members elected a common Executive Committee. The officers for the 1967-68 terms are as follows:

General Chairman, Norman H. Bell of Toronto, President of The White Motor Company of Canada Limited;

Vice-chairmen, Hon. Allan MacEachern of Ottawa, Minister of National Health and Welfare; Claude Jodoin of Ottawa, President, Canadian Labor Congress; Merlin Donald of Montreal, President of Robert Hampson and Son Limited; J. C. Thackray of Ottawa, Vice-president and General Manager, Bell Canada and L. C. Beebe of Oakville, Vice-president, Marketing and Planning, Ford Motor Company of Canada Limited.

Secretary, A. E. Moore, Montreal, Vice-president - Trade Relations, Johnson & Johnson Limited.

Treasurer, H. A. S. Fraser of Montreal.

The Executive Committee also includes representatives of the 10 provincial governments and the nine provincial safety councils.

C.W.L. Bazaar October 21st

Plans for the annual bazaar were finalized at the monthly meeting of the Catholic Women's League.

The event will be held in the Coleman Catholic hall on Saturday, October 21 from 2 to 5 p.m. A tea, pastry tables, and fish pond will be featured at the affair.

During the meeting a spiritual talk on "What is Love" was enjoyed. The attendance prize was won by Mrs. Veronica Proc.

Expo 67 at Montreal has four medical centres on the site, and eight first aid posts to deal with emergencies. The four centres are on Cite du Havre, one on Ile Notre Dame and one at each end of Ile Sainte-Helene.
